

In-Home Aide Newsletter- April 2026 Posttest
PROFESSIONALISM
ANSWERS

1. Balancing professionalism and caring with providing services in the home requires thoughtful based actions daily.

True

2. In-home aides, like any other health care professional, must follow all agencies' legal and ethical policies and/or protocol.

True

3. Prioritizing the client's needs and respecting their privacy and dignity is a way to be a professional in Home Care.

True

4. Learning how to maintain boundaries is extremely important to ensure a professional In-home aide-client relationship.

True

5. Most agencies will have policies about maintaining professional relationships with clients.

True

6. Relationships with your clients are the same as relationships with your family and friends.

False

7. You should notify your agency if your client would like to provide you with a gift.

True

8. You should notify your supervisor if a client is treating you in ways that are stressful to you.

True

9. Professional standards protect you and the client, you should set the standard at the beginning of care.

True

10. Appropriately interacting with clients and their families can make a difference in both the In-home aide's and the client's satisfaction with services.

True